INTRODUCTION

Further Education (FE) Colleges are the main providers of vocational and technical education and training in Northern Ireland (NI). The nature of College provision is diverse and broad based ranging from A Levels and GCSEs to BTECs, HNCs, HNDs, Apprenticeships, Foundation Degrees, Degrees and other specific training programmes. The FE Sector plays a central role in raising levels of literacy and numeracy, and in up-skilling and re-skilling the population through a broad range of courses leading to qualifications, particularly at Levels 2 and 3.

There are 6 FE Colleges within Northern Ireland; Belfast Metropolitan College (BMC), Northern Regional College (NRC), North West Regional College (NWRC), South Eastern Regional College (SERC), South West College (SWC) and Southern Regional College (SRC).

The Colleges have over 150,000 enrolments across their 40 campuses and 400 community outreach venues per year. The Colleges support 4,100 expert lecturers and professional staff. Colleges make an important contribution to social cohesion in the community, through the integrated approach taken to the delivery of the Entitlement Framework provision. Evidencing the success of creative and collaborative partnerships across the schools through Area Learning Communities. Increasingly the Colleges are working directly with organisations in the private, public and community sectors to improve their performance and currently work with over 7,500 businesses across NI.

PURPOSE OF THE RETENTION AND DISPOSAL SCHEDULE

As Public Authorities and data controllers, the FE Sector is legally obliged to comply with both the Data Protection Act (2018) and the Freedom of Information Act (2000). The main principle behind both Acts is the public 'right to know'. This may be either in relation to their own personal information or that of the organisation therefore it is critical that the FE Sector manages its records in line with either statutory guidance or business need. The above mentioned Acts are enforced by the Information Commissioners Office and promote transparency and accountability of the authority. The schedule complies with the requirements in the Public Records Act (NI) 1923 and the Disposal of Documents Order (S.R. & O. 1925

No 167).

The FE Sector has collaborated on the development of a single Retention and Disposal Schedule for all the Colleges. The creation of the document has been supervised by the Public Record Office for Northern Ireland (PRONI). The purpose of this Retention and Disposal Schedule is to manage the life of records from their creation to their completion. The Retention and Disposal Schedule will identify records of historical value and determine whether they are to be preserved as archives, either by the Colleges or PRONI and records which are to be destroyed. It provides guidance on retention of the records which are generated by the Colleges in the course of carrying out their functions and managing the Colleges as corporate bodies.

The retention of unnecessary paper and electronic records consumes staff time and utilises space and equipment. Records management is ultimately a matter of risk management, and the Colleges must determine their own position on managing the risks associated with the retention and disposal of records. Decisions to preserve or destroy records may be informed by professional legal advice within the relevant departments, and should be authorised by appropriate officers who can commit the College to the potential consequences of the decisions.

WHAT IS COVERED BY THIS RETENTION AND DISPOSAL SCHEDULE

This schedule identifies the retention and disposal arrangements for all records created by Northern Ireland FE Colleges. A record is recorded information, in any form, created or received by the Colleges or individual members of staff to support and show evidence of College activities. For the purpose of this Retention and Disposal Schedule, records are defined as:

'Information captured in a reproducible format, including paper, e-mail and other documents in computer systems.'

Document Management

The 6 FE Colleges declare that they will take measures to ensure that the records which they create will be physically well maintained and cared for while they are in their custody, i.e. until either destroyed or permanently preserved by the College or PRONI.

Electronic Documents/Material

Each College is responsible for ensuring systems and processes are in place to manager all formats of records held by the organisation.

The principles governing the retention of electronic documents are the same as those for paper records. In support of these principles, it is important that electronic folders should be organised in a similar way as paper records. In addition, ephemeral electronic documents of no enduring value, such as those of purely personal relevance, should be deleted from the system at the earliest opportunity.

In almost all cases, the disposal periods given in the schedule relate to master copies of records which form the official version retained for regulatory or business reasons. Where it is clear that a master copy is being retained elsewhere within the College, there is no requirement to keep such documents. In all cases, copies of records should not be retained any longer than the period stated for the master copy in the retention and disposal schedule.

Email

Emails potentially form part of the Colleges corporate record and, therefore, are subject to its records management policies and procedures. All staff, therefore, should review incoming and outgoing emails to decide whether the information they contain should be retained as part of the corporate record.

Where a member of staff wishes to keep an email message for administrative or reference purposes, it should be moved into a relevant area. These messages should be deleted when they have ceased to be of use for reference purposes. Ephemeral email messages, which are not required for either administrative or reference purposes, should be deleted immediately.

Incoming and outgoing emails are potentially covered by the Data Protection Act 2018 if one or other of the following criteria is met:

- The sender or recipient is identifiable, either through their email address or the text of the email; or
- The text of the email contains personal data, i.e. facts, opinions or intentions about identifiable living individuals.

The Data Protection Act 2018 specifically requires that personal data should not be kept for longer than necessary. Any emails containing personal information should therefore be deleted as soon as they are no longer of administrative value.

CATEGORIES OF RETENTION/DISPOSAL

Disposal does not just relate to destroy, but rather the 'final action' that should be applied to a record. There are five broad categories of retention/disposal.

Destroy

These are records which the College will retain for a defined period and which will be destroyed at the end of that period. The College will adhere to the Lord Chancellor's Code Of Practice On The Management Of Records Under Section 46 of the Freedom of Information Act 2000.

Permanent Retention by the College

There are likely to be few records in this category but these are records which the College needs to retain permanently for business administrative needs.

Public Record Office Permanent Preservation

These are files/records which PRONI has decided are of long-term historical research value. These records must be transferred to PRONI under the terms of the Public Records Act (NI) 1923, once they become a historical file (i.e. at 20 years old).

PRONI Appraisal

These are records requiring appraisal. They are reviewed by FE Colleges staff at specified periods to determine if there is a continuing business need for retention. Once there is no longer a continuing business need by the business area, PRONI staff will review the file at first review to determine if they are required for historical or research purposes.

College Appraisal

These records will be appraised by the College at the end of the term to assess any continued requirement for the record to be kept. Once the record has no further business/archived purpose, it will be destroyed.

OPERATION OF THIS RETENTION AND DISPOSAL SCHEDULE

Closing a file

In order for this retention and disposal schedule to operate effectively, it is important to maintain a streamlined filing system through regular and systematic closure of files. Closing a file does not mean that it has to be immediately removed from the filing system. What it does mean is that no additional papers should be added to the file and that it should be used only for reference.

If files are not closed on a formalised and regular basis the following problems are likely to occur:

- Files inevitably become untidy with resulting damage to documents;
- Older files cannot be moved to inactive storage;
- File fasteners and covers come under excessive strain from the weight of paper;
- Access to items on a file becomes difficult;
- Inactive information is held on current files.

Regular file closure has the following benefits:

- Files are kept to a manageable size;
- Files remain neat and tidy;
- Access to material on files is faster;
- The progressive disposal of records is made easier.

A file should be closed and a new one created if necessary when one of the following conditions are met:

- The file exceeds a thickness of 2.5 cm;

- No papers have been added for two years;
- The contents of the file span more than five years.

In addition, some files should be closed at:

- The end of the financial year;
- The end of a project;
- The end of a mandate.
- When a file is due to be closed the appropriate member of staff should consult the retention and disposal schedule and indicate on the file the date on which it can be destroyed, transferred to the Public Record Office of Northern Ireland, or whether it should be subject to the normal review procedures.

When archiving records, the following should be observed as a minimum:

- Each container relates to 1 disposal date. Records of varying disposal dates should not be archived together. This would result in unnecessary spent at disposal, separating records to be destroyed from those to be retained.
- Containers used for archiving hardcopy records are for the use of College records only. At no time should other materials be stored in archive.

Retention periods

Retention periods are based upon the specific business needs of the Colleges in addition to the regulatory environment within which the College operates. The retention period for each type of file is calculated from the point the file is closed.

Destruction

Destruction of files will take place on a planned basis in line with the retention and disposal schedule recommendations. Destruction will be conducted by staff responsible for the maintenance of registered file systems, in consultation with the relevant business area. A record of destruction will be kept for audit purposes and all files will be destroyed in line with the arrangements for the destruction of confidential waste.

Commitment to Preserving Files/Records

The College declares that it will take measures to ensure that the records it creates will be physically well maintained and cared for while they are in its custody. These measures will include:

- Removing paper clips and pins from papers before filing with particular; attention being given to those records, which, according to the Retention and Disposal Schedule, are to be preserved permanently;
- Removing any CDs and other storage devices from paper files and converting its contents to hard copy;
- Using files with file covers as opposed to buff folders, which do not offer the same protection to the papers inside;
- Using continuation files if files get too bulky (i.e. more than 2.5 cm thick);
- Punching papers to be filed 25mm in and 25mm down from the edge to minimise the danger of detachment and resulting loss of information;
- Storing bulky or outsize items in a pocket or envelope inside the file cover on the left hand side.

CONTENT OF THE SCHEDULE

The Schedule is arranged in the following format:

Class/Activity:

- This describes the main function area for the record.
- Organisational Structures differ within each College. Relevant records may sit within different Functionality areas and staff should cross reference where appropriate.

Series:

- This provides examples of common records within this Activity category.

Retention Period:

- This provides the recommended retention period for the associated records.
- Retention periods may be prescribed within legislation and statutory instructions.
- Where there is no required retention period, a period is recommended based on business need.

Relevant Legislation

- This sections provides details of legal/statutory background to the decision surrounding the 'Retention Period'

Final Action:

- This describes the final action in the lifecycle of the associated record. See 'Categories of Retention and Disposal'

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Chief Executive

The Chief Executive of each College is responsible for ensuring that the College complies with legislative requirements relating to records management, the Data Protection Act (2018) and the Freedom of Information Act (2000). His/her principal role is to ensure that the College policy is adhered to.

Directors

Each Director is responsible for the management of records within his/her Department and for the application of the policy within his/her operational units.

Heads of Departments and Senior Managers

All managers in the College are accountable to their supervising managers for ensuring that all information and records systems within their operational responsibilities comply with the policy statement and guidelines. They are also responsible for ensuring that guidelines and records management procedures are maintained for their operational units and communicated to employees. The College Information Officer can provide guidance and assistance on these issues.

Employees

All employees are accountable to their line managers for compliance with this schedule.

FE Sector Information Working Group

The role of this group, reporting to the Directors' Working Group, is to review generally the Sector Schedule and its obligations under the legislation.
